

Restuccia buying gas station as frontage for business land

Ben Restuccia of Wilmington Ford has written a letter to the town manager, requesting that the selectmen transfer the site of the auto license recently granted him. The license, for an American Motors auto dealership, was granted in August for an address which was a part of the Wilmington Ford lot on Main Street.

The new license address would be 220 Main St., which is the Wilmington Jenney gas station adjacent to Wilmington Plaza. Owned for years by Frank Bridges on rented land, Mr. Bridges purchased the land a few months ago. Now Restuccia, apparently has purchased land and gas station. Bridges confirmed that he is negotiating with Restuccia, but said nothing will take place until March.

Restuccia recently attempted to rezone part of a 16-acre parcel of land that he had purchased recently. A special town meeting on October 24 turned him down.

That property, however, has 3.1 acres behind Wilmington Plaza which is zoned for General Business, but there is no frontage on Main Street. By purchasing the Bridges gas station Restuccia gets the all-necessary Main Street frontage.

He also presented the Wilmington Planning Board with a problem which is really more than that - it is a dilemma. The planning board, Tuesday night just could not decide.

They put off the decision for a week, a move this still allows them some time, because the selectmen will not meet until November 14.

Carole Hamilton had definite opinions. She wants the planning board to send a letter pointing out that the town meeting had voted "no more automobile dealerships on auto row."

This was why the planning board endorsed the American Motors agency on the Ford lot, she pointed out. It was not expanding the land being used for automobile agencies.

Al Reidy had another opinion. He said that he had not objected to moving the license to another site. He had voted that the land that Restuccia owns be rezoned.

ca-owns be rezoned.

Mrs. Hamilton said the planning board voted the way because Restuccia had promised to put in a traffic light. This proposal, she said, has nothing about traffic lights.

Chairman Bill Hooper said he was not against a transfer of the license, but he had some misgivings about where the license was going. There is a problem, right there, on traffic control and traffic flow, he said.

Tony Gentile, the fourth member, made no comment.

The trouble about a selectmen's decision, the board agreed, is that the selectmen do not have planning board powers. But the discussion was tabled for a week.

Trash war

A "shaker" from the SCA truck picks up rubbish on Forest Street. In the foreground are barrels which were emptied by the Vining crew.

A tale of two trash trucks

A new rubbish contractor took over in Wilmington Tuesday morning, and for a brief time, two contractors were collecting rubbish on the same streets.

The town notified Michael Vining, owner of Vining Disposal, that his contract was being terminated as of 4 p.m., Monday, the last day of October. SCA Services began collecting rubbish on Tuesday.

Vining, however, is not giving up. On Tuesday, he had his crew collecting rubbish in Wilmington, although town officials said he would not be paid for it.

The pattern used by Vining's crew on Tuesday was interesting. They would pick up most of the rubbish from a street, leaving a few occasional barrels unemptied. It was then up to the SCA people to figure out which barrels had been emptied and which had not.

On Wednesday, however, Vining's crew was not collecting rubbish, but was removing the company's dumpsters from town buildings.

Vining had won the contract, which began on July 1, with a bid of $277,000. SCA had bid $338,000. Vining, however, failed to post a bond as required in the contract. Vining in early October wrote a letter to the town manager, notifying him of impending price increases, resulting from greatly increased dumping costs. Last week, he wrote another letter, rescinding the first. He would absorb the dump costs, he said, and would provide a letter in evidence of a bond by Thursday, Nov. 3. The town, nonetheless, decided to cancel the contract.

Vining said his attorney had told him there are some loopholes in the contract which would be worth pursuing.

Last pickup

Meanwhile, on another street, Vining's men were busy emptying more barrels.

Camp fire holds Halloween party

Spooks and spacemen, ghouls and goblins, witches and other wonders roamed the Congregational Church Friday night, October 28 as Tewksbury Camp Fire held its annual Halloween celebration.

The haunting began with a Horribles parade in which about 130 party goers were allowed to flaunt their costumes and review those of the other participants.

Marching resulted in hearty appetites which were quenched by bewitching treats provided by the Camp Fire leaders and a pumpkin colored brew provided by McDonald's restaurant.

After refreshments, the Camp Fire youth were led through a mysterious spook walk. Flashing lights created a chilling effect as children crept past spiders and through cobwebs. Apparitions continued to startle them as they quickly proceeded through the ghastly passages. In order to leave the spell of the spook walk, each child had to examine the remains of a witch which were spread across a table. Spaghetti brains, olive eyeballs, spaghetti intestine, and twiggie arms were among the remnants.

Less ghoulish events at the party included special birthday cards which were created by the children for Bea Rogers of Tewksbury. Mrs. Rogers, who is still an active Camp Fire member, will be celebrating her 70th birthday November 5.

Youth who participated in the town clean-up earlier this month were awarded "Community Service Certificates." Members also donated 25 cents each for a new Camp Fire flag and received a special Camp Fire patch as thanks.

Tax bills mailed

Real Estate bills for fiscal 1984 have been mailed by the Tewksbury Tax Collector's office. Bills, which reflect the new tax rate of $21.40 per thousand of assessed value, are due and payable in the tax collector's office by 4:00 p.m. November 28, 1983.

A 14 percent interest charge will be added to payments received after the November 28, 1983 deadline.

Tewksbury grants early retirement incentive late

by Jim Brown
Tewksbury Editor

It may be coming a little later than they had expected, but three former Tewksbury School Department employees were granted an early retirement incentive last Wednesday by unanimous vote of the school committee.

Awarding of the incentives comes some four months after eight employees met a June 17 deadline for submitting letters of interest in the program in response to a June 9 committee memo, which was described as only a "feeler." That memo set up an increasing scale of incentive amounts based on years of service in the system. It also contained a different set of amounts for custodians and teachers.

One of those who responded to that memo, retired custodian Michael Farese, appeared before the committee on September 21 and politely asked if he would ever get his $1800 gift for retiring the system early.

Farese, a 16 year school department veteran, was told during that September meeting that the committee had never formally discussed or voted to offer the program. Instead, he was told, the committee voted to use some previously unexpended fiscal 1983 funds - that would have otherwise been able to fund the early retirement incentive program - to purchase some computers for the system.

But, Farese told the committee that he understood the memo meant the program would be offered and that he had planned his retirement with the expectation of being awarded the incentive.

After hearing Farese's plea, the committee voted to formally discuss the program, review all applications and decide whether to grant the incentive on October 26.

"I feel that we led the people to believe we were going to award this incentive," said Committeeman Louis Carciofi. "I apologize to Mr. Farese for the trouble he had to go through to get this money," he added.

The $1800 payment to Farese and a $1500 payment to fellow retired custodian Charles Murphy, a 12 year school department veteran, will be funded out of the school committee's fiscal 1984 budget because their actual retirements took effect within the fiscal 1984 year.

But, a committee supported incentive payment of $5000 to retired elementary teacher Margie Brazile must get town meeting approval because her retirement after 16 years in the system took effect in fiscal 1983.

Supt. of Schools John Wynn explained that Auditor Tom Berube had advised him that payment of Brazile's $5000 incentive may be considered a part of fiscal 1983 bills and, because the books for fiscal 1983 have been closed, approval of the payment will have to go before a town meeting for a special appropriation.

Assistant Supt. for Business John Ryan acknowledged that Committee Chairman Tom Cooke had posed a "tough question" when he asked whether funds for the payments to Farese and Murphy could be found in the committee's fiscal 1984 budget. Although Ryan said the committee faces tight financial constraints this year, he added, "On any action the committee takes, I'll always do two things. Find the funds and keep the books balanced."

Although he would later support the payments, Committeeman Jim Sullivan presented initial opposition. He cast the lone vote against granting the incentive payment to Farese, but then motioned to make the vote unanimous. "I don't want to hurt Mr. Farese, but on the other hand, I don't think it's right," he said. He also voted in favor of the two others.

Sullivan had said that some of the eight employees who had shown an interest in the incentive program would only retire if an incentive were offered. Those employees, he said, were given a chance to "unretire" because the incentive was not offered.

"I think in fairness to them, we have to have one policy. And I don't see where we can have it," Sullivan said.

"I don't think it's fair that we dangle a carrot in front of the people's faces and pull it away from them when they go to take a bite," Carciofi argued.

But, Sullivan said the program had never formally been offered and claimed many people knew it would not be offered. "It wasn't as if we gave somebody something and took it away," he said.

However, Committee member Dr. Carol Wareing said, "Mr. Farese planned on this (incentive)." She added, "I don't think Mr. Farese should be the one to suffer."

Carciofi added that he talked to Brazile shortly after she retired and reported that she could not have reversed her decision because the incentive was not being offered. He said Brazile, who could not attend the meeting and had asked the Tewksbury Teachers Association

(TTA) to represent her, had sold her house and was also anticipated the incentive payment before moving into a new home. "She retired based on having that money," he said.

TTA President Shelia Walsh confirmed that Brazile had asked the union to represent her before the committee. She said that she had talked to Brazile in August and reported that Brazile had asked the union to continue pursuing the incentive payment for her.

"God bless Mr. Farese for bringing up the subject. For himself, and for other people," Walsh said.

Murphy, according to Wynn, had sent notice to the committee of his pending retirement in early April, before the June 9 early retirement incentive memo was distributed. However, he wrote a separate letter in mid June in which he asked to be considered for inclusion in the incentive program.

The concept behind the early retirement incentive, committee members have said, is to reduce the number of any pending staff layoffs by offering older staff members a monetary incentive to retire earlier than they otherwise would have.

Wareing said she would like to see an incentive program offered on a yearly basis. "I'd like to see the incentive granted to anyone who retires," she says.

She argued that when a staff member with several years of experience in the system retires, the committee can ultimately save money because the position can either be left unfilled or, can be filled by a younger person who would come into the system at the lower end of the pay scale.

In a related matter, the committee held off a vote to grant a $5000 incentive to 13 year veteran teacher Helen Rudnick. Rudnick, according to Wynn, is currently on a leave of absence from the system, but had shown an interest in the incentive program.

However, according to Wynn, Rudnick's letter left her intentions unclear. He said her letter of interest stated she would "resign" from the system while all other letters specifically mentioned "retirement."

The committee directed Wynn to check into Rudnick's status and report back at a future meeting.

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

I would appreciate it if you would please print the following letter. Since it is Halloween time, I'm sure you will have a lot of correspondence, but if space permits it, I would like to see this printed.

"To the parents of the 'children' who stole a large, carved pumpkin from our doorstep on the evening of Saturday, October 29, 1983 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.:

"I'm writing to you, the parents, as I'm sure the 'children' aren't wasting their time reading this fine, community newspaper. I'm also writing to you, the parents, because I would like you (if you have the time) to talk to your 'children' and explain what the results of such malicious acts can be. Of course if you know where your 'children' were on the above night, then you have little to concern yourselves.

"My three-year-old son, his dad and his two-year-old sister and myself spent a lot of time cleaning out this large pumpkin and carving it to make an extra special Jack O'Lantern. Why? Because we were going to give it to a very special friend of ours - another three-year-old boy named Christopher.

"On the night the pumpkin was stolen we had Christopher, his six month old sister and their mother and dad over for the evening. Chris has had a difficult time as his 32 year old mom has cancer and is fighting every day of her life. The pumpkin was just one little treat that my son could give to Chris since his family has been too busy to carve pumpkins. Chris was so happy and thrilled when my son gave him his 'Jack O'Lantern.' He loved it because it was now his. We left it on our doorstep to keep it nice and cool until Chris went home.

"Needless to say at 9 p.m. I had two little boys with broken hearts crying their eyes out when they found out the pumpkin was gone. Where did it go? I did the best job I could explaining that someone less fortunate than they took the pumpkin.

"After my son went to bed that night he woke up three different times asking - 'Where's Chris' pumpkin? Why did they take it? Who took it? Will it be ok?'"

So - please parents - just remind your 'children' that serious results can occur from one, simple malicious act. It's sad when you have to explain to innocent three-year-olds that 'thieves' live right in your own neighborhood.

Thank you, Larz, for printing this letter.

Sincerely,
Mrs. John L. Matthews

Dear Larz:

Attendance at the second Special Town Meeting truly demonstrated the tradition set forth by our Magnificent Congregational Church, the foundation of our town. The spirit of the Lord was there from all demonations as demonstrated.

My heartfelt thanks go out to everyone who helped prevent further rezoning of more land for industrial purposes, protecting what little there is left of our precious Wilmington.

If we can afford a $7.25 million addition and betterments to our high school, I'm sure we can afford a water treatment plant and water tower in North Wilmington. (We wouldn't have needed this if we didn't have so much industrial development. Let industry pay for it.)

It wasn't only blue collar workers who voted for our high school improvements - you see - we're not a blue collar town anymore as Wilmington has been labeled for many years. We're controlled by white collars now.

Most of our public officials worked so hard for (article one, the high school issue) they all must have ring around their collar! It certainly would be commendable if as much effort could be devoted to support for housing for both the elderly and the young as was given for the high school and industry.

It's about time this town served the needs of all the people. Housing for all income levels for both the young and the elderly are in order. Imagine Esther Nichols lives in Winchester, Walter Buck lives in Reading, my mother lives in Hampstead, N.H. - How many others do you know who have been forced to find housing elsewhere???

This message is to all of our townspeople, and all the boards in our town - Have you all ever thought where you would go when you are unable to maintain a home anymore - I mean you too Larz??? The only answer now is to leave all your friends and relatives and find housing elsewhere among strangers. How awful!!! It also makes it very difficult for families and friends to have to travel far when their loved ones are in need of help.

It's up to us all to decide and speak up for what we truly want for our community. Think - pray - and get involved. Your opinions and voices are needed to save what little there is left of our town.

Remember as stated at the last Special Town Meeting, we all have one vote - that ONE could be the deciding one - Imagine this, Dan Ballou was pleading for a mere seven - Now was it worth it to give up and stay home?

It took me 48 years to get the courage to speak up, thanks to a miracle, otherwise I wouldn't have had the courage. One of the quietest ones in my class - I've been silent too long.

Sincerely,

Sonja Carlson
P.S. See you all November 22, at the next SPECIAL Town Election to override Proposition 2 1/2 - Good luck!

Dear Larz:

I wonder whether the taxpayers of Wilmington realize how much it is really going to cost for the new additions to the high school.

During the same week that additions were voted for at Town Meeting, we heard about the low SAT scores, with Wilmington, Massachusetts ranking 17th below the national average in verbal and 22nd below in math. How are these new additions for extracurricular activities going to help our students with their basic subjects?

Questions I would like answered: "How much more personnel will be needed for the operation of these new additions? How much more maintenance personnel and the estimated cost of electricity and heat?"

All these added on costs will have to come out of the limited school budget once these buildings are completed. Do we have to override Proposition 2 1/2 permanently so that Wilmington can support this new project?

So, taxpayers, take time to think about this and then take time to vote on November 22. It's your dollars. Use your sense.

Beverly Vokey

Dear Larz:

I want to explain why I went to Wilmington and to Avco on October 24 to participate a civil disobedience. I am the mother of two draft age boys. I am also a high school teacher and a journalist and I have considered all sides of the nuclear arms debate. I've listened to the view that the USSR is so evil, ruthless and intent upon taking over the world that over the world that only military might will deter them. I know about Afghanistan and Czechoslovakia. I also know about Vietnam and Grenada.

Whatever our foreign policy, I am convinced Pershing 2 and Cruise missiles in Europe won't help. Pershing are too fast to allow correction of an unintentional launching. Cruise missiles - 20 feet long - are so small to verify. Our deployment is bound to provoke further deployments by the USSR. Meanwhile the expertise of Avco technicians is being squandered on unusable arms while they could be going into products usable by people generally. Now is the time to make conversion plans to domestic production.

Some of the people who drove past me as I sat down to block the entrance to Avco, yelled "Go home Russia," "Commie" and "Let me run them over." I am neither a Communist nor do I prefer Russia over the USA. I made my decision on my own to take open, deliberate illegal action and to take the consequences of arrest and trial (and a drenching from the rain). Each of the eight women I joined with for October 24 also made her decision on her own. We met a week ago at a non-violent, civil-disobedience training session; we include grandmothers, mothers, and single people. We have already used every legal channel open to us: lobbying legislators, leafleting, petitioning, marching and voting. None of us ever deliberately broke the law in our lives before October 24.

We consider our disobedience a responsible act in the tradition of Martin Luther King, Ghandi, Rosa Parks, Susan B. Anthony, and the Boston Tea Party. But unlike the Tea Party raiders, we disobey openly, publicly and proudly. We take action for the sake of our families, our country, and for the rest of the world, which will follow us either deeper into the nuclear quagmire or slowly and steadily out of it.

Tewksbury health board to hold lice seminar

The Tewksbury Board of Health will do its part in the problems of pediculosis. There will be a seminar on the subject in the high school at 7 p.m. on November 16.

Pediculosis has nothing to do with the pedals of a bicycle, or such. Rather, it refers to an infestation of lice, commonly found by horrified parents in the hair of small children.

Most parents do not like to talk about it. Lice in the hair, is always something that happens somewhere else.

In eastern Massachusetts, there has been a growing problem of hair lice infestations. A National Pediculosis Association has been formed by two Newton women, one of whom is Debra Z. Altschuler, according to a Boston Globe story.

It is a national problem, the ladies say. Not many residents know how to cope with it.

Come, listen, ask questions in the high school on November 16 at 7 p.m., the Tewksbury Board of Health urges. The invitation is to all Tewksbury residents and is extended also to the superintendent of schools, parent-teacher associations, school nurses and visiting nurse associations of other towns and cities near Tewksbury.

Peter Clancy

Peter Clancy in Grenada

Peter Clancy, a paramedic in the 82nd Airborne Division, has had an eventful two years in the US Army. A graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School in 1981, he enlisted shortly afterward. Peter now expects to be out of the Army in a few days.

But, in the meantime, he will stay with his division on the Caribbean island of Grenada. Clancy was one of the 1900 troops who led an invasion force onto that island October 25.

He is the son of Patricia and Warren Clancy of 85 Tenth St., Tewksbury. She is the former Pat Camber of Chestnut Street, Wilmington. She and her mother Valerie were well known a few years ago in Wilmington and Tewksbury Girl Scout activities.

Peter is a Town Crier reader. He has had a subscription ever since he enlisted about two years ago.

On March 31, 1982 he was one of 2300 paratroopers who jumped into the Mohave Desert from a C141 jet transport plane. It was part of a military exercise designed as a test for the United States Rapid Deployment Joint Task Force.

That exercise was marred by unexpected strong gusts of icy wind, and some snow. Four paratroopers died, and 71 were injured. The Town Crier printed Peter's first hand account of that exercise in 1981.

One of the men who was injured was his particular buddy. It was a touching time for Peter Clancy. Part of the rescue work was filmed by ABC news cameras.

Peter, more recently, was one of 1900 men from the 82nd Airborne who jumped, to land in Grenada on October 25. Sixteen Americans were killed and 77 wounded during that week.

It was NBC cameras this time which caught a picture of Peter Clancy. A tape was shown. He was interviewed, this time by the cameramen. His appearance was very brief, but a comfort to his parents, to know that all was well.

Peter Clancy expects to leave the Army when he reaches the age of 21 and settle in a home he has waiting for him in North Carolina.

Views On Dental Health

OPTING FOR PARTIAL DENTURE

If you have missing teeth that should be replaced and are concerned about cost, you may opt for the partial denture. This is the most economical way to meet the need to protect your natural teeth as well as your appearance. Missing teeth not only cause the adjacent teeth to drift, making them more vulnerable to decay, but they also create gaps in your mouth that may cause cheeks to sag as well as mouth and cheek wrinkles. This is a gradual process, but the sooner you replace missing teeth the better for your appearance as well as your dental health. When you opt for a partial denture, the fee is usually based on the whole appliance and not on the number of teeth on it.

A partial denture is a removable appliance. You can slip it easily in or out of your mouth. It is made with metal clasps that attach to the nearest and strongest natural teeth on either side. It serves a very important need by filling the gaps caused by missing teeth. Although the removable partial is used primarily to replace back teeth, it can also be used to replace front ones.

Luke Byrne Day in Tewksbury

Race draws 200 runners

Friends, runners honor Luke Byrne

In Luke's honor

Two-hundred runners turned out Sunday morning for a race to honor the late Luke Byrne. 1. The start of the race Sunday from the Northmeadow Tennis Club in Tewksbury. 2. Female division winner Lillian Peltz crosses the finish line ahead of an apparently very content male competitor. 3. A great Maine moose was loose Sunday and competed in the race. 4. Male winner Sean McCormack easily led the field and crossed the finish line in fine time. 5. Tewksbury's Fern Piper, a classmate of Luke's, also ran a super race. 6. Former TMHS football captain Charlie Roux returned from a racing layoff to complete the 6.2 mile distance. 7. Kevin Hanley (169) puts the finishing touches on his 44 minute time with a stop of the watch. 8. The tandem of Joseph LeBeouf (left) and Donald Ciampa chugged up together just ahead of the State Police team.

Frosh rout Billerica, 22-6

The freshmen football showdown of the season is set for this Friday afternoon (3 p.m.) at the Walter Doucette Field between the Tewksbury frosh and the unbeaten and unscored upon Lowell High School freshmen.

The battle was set up with last week's 22-6 Tewksbury romp past hapless Billerica. Coach Ernie Lightfoot's club got off to a stumbling start before righting itself to roll out to a 22-0 advantage.

Jeff Larsen (20 yard run) and Herb Gardner (15 yard run) sent the locals into a 12-0 lead before the defense took over. Defensive tackle Steve Whelton forced a Billerica back into the endzone for a safety and Brian Aylward intercepted a pass to set up a nine yard touchdown scamper by Tim Boudreau. Gardner ran for the two points and the 22-0 spread. Billerica finally scored late in the game.

Defensively, the Tewksbury leaders were Gardner (six tackles), Brian Donahue (five tackles, two quarterback sacks and a batted down pass) and Whelton (four tackles, a sack and a safety).

Before a dirty

stifles fuel economy

Show your car you care.

You wouldn't want your car's engine to have to gasp for air would you? Well, that's just what will happen if its carburetor is smothered by a dirty air filter. 'Cause when its air filter is clogged by nasty dirt particles your car's engine can't get all the fresh air it needs. And that means an inefficient air/fuel mixture that's harder to burn. This wastes precious gas. And that hurts. Hurts your car's fuel economy and your wallet. So stop stifling your car's fuel economy. Give it a new air filter. You'll both breathe easier.

TMHS girls' cross country

Bernardi, TMHS girls scrap back

The Tewksbury High School girls cross-country team has had a successful season, especially in terms of the times they have been able to post on the various courses around the conference. With that as a guide, this year's team is the strongest and has the greatest depth of any team in Tewksbury's history.

Last Friday the girls traveled to Andover to tackle the tough Andover course and determine the winner of the rivalry that has seen Andover win two and Tewksbury win two over the past five years. Doyle Divino, the Golden Warriors' self-made super star, led the field from the start of the race, but Tewksbury was amassing six runners behind her. Disaster seemed to strike when Julie Bernardi tripped and badly scrapped her leg and hands on a rocky hill. Displaying the fortitude she has developed in three years of cross-country running, she picked herself up, got back in the race, and moved from 12th to fifth place over the last two miles of the course. Fran Mulrain took second for Tewksbury, followed by sophomore Renee Juchnevics, Captain Teresa Forsyth (running with a severe muscle pull), Bernardi, sophomore P. Peggy Forsyth and freshman Tricia Censullo. The score was Tewksbury 20, Andover 42, setting Tewksbury's record for the season at three wins and four losses.

Seniors Teresa Forsyth and Julie Bernardi have been mainstays on the team for three years and they will be sorely missed next season. However, Fran Mulrain, a junior, could become the premier cross-country runner in the conference (she already holds Tewksbury's school record in the mile). She will be joined by sophomore Renee Juchnevics, who has shown tremendous promise in her first year at cross-country; sophomore Peggy Forsyth, who continues the Forsyth saga of good running; Tricia Censullo, an extremely talented and promising freshman; junior Diane Tremblay, a stalwart on the team for two years; junior Tracy Meehan; sophomore Lisa Pifalo and freshmen Sue McLaughlin and Chris Blake.

TMHS soccer

Tewksbury offense hits snag

Things can only get better. The Tewksbury High School varsity soccer team, having come into this past week with eight wins (seven of which they really had to play hard for), five losses (four of which if a break in their favor had happened in each one of the games they may have had four additional wins) and one tie (probably their best played game of the season), finally had to face their first real slump of the season recently with two shutout losses to Andover, 2-0 and to Lowell, 7-0.

Both losses at Tewksbury leave the Redmen with the challenge of having to win one of their last two games in order to attain a winning season. The game against Chelmsford was played this past Monday, October 31, with the final game of the regular season being played today against Wilmington at the Tewksbury Junior High. Game time is 3 p.m.

Andover 2 Tewksbury 0
The Redmen came out fast in the game, as they have done in almost every game they have played this season. Andover rarely found itself on the offensive, as Tewksbury did everything but put the ball in the net. Andover had three shots in the first half, two of which unfortunately went in. The first goal went off a Tewksbury defender, the second being scored on a rebound off a shot that was saved although the shot was going wide. The second half saw a third period of back and forth action, with the final 18 minutes being all Tewksbury offensively.

Lowell 7 Tewksbury 0
Tewksbury, after falling behind quickly on an indirect kick goal by Lowell, struggled to contain a skilled Lowell squad. The result found a Tewksbury team that wasn't having a good day, and a Lowell team that was having a great day. With the score 3-0 at halftime, one goal in the first quarter and two in the second quarter forced Tewksbury into numerous positional changes looking for a spark.

A missed penalty kick by the Redmen sealed their fate, as Lowell answered the missed kick with a quick counter goal in the third quarter, and added three more, all in the last seven and one-half minutes against a restructured defense, for the final score of 7-0.

Coviello busts loose

Tewksbury High School freshman running back Ken Coviello (34) busts loose for a big second half gain behind the block thrown by senior guard Glen Chaisson (52). Coviello ran for 101 yards in Saturday's 17-0 blanketing of Billerica as the Redmen snapped a three game losing streak. It was Tewksbury's first win since the opening game victory over Haverhill.

TMHS boys' cross country

TMHS boys restore respectability

Their won-lost record may seem very grim (0-7), but this year's Tewksbury Memorial High School boys' cross country team has come a long way toward restoring itself to respectability in the Merrimack Valley Conference. Moreover, there have been some truly remarkable performances by individuals in every meet throughout the season.

Leading the TMHS squad has been Steve Murphy, a great competitor and hard worker. Steve trains hard and goes out to win every time he takes the starting line. Once the Small School meets began, he proved to be unbeatable, knocking off the best that Greater Lawrence, Dracut, Lawrence and Wilmington could throw at him.

Although Murphy has been running cross-country only two months (he played football last year), he has already demonstrated great maturity as a runner. Typical of his take-charge style was his race against Eric Rodriguez of Lawrence. Rodriguez seemed to want to stay in the lead, so Murphy kept pulling ahead, forcing the tiring Lancer to sprint by him repeatedly. Finally, Murphy left him staggering as he pulled away commandingly through the final half mile.

Gradually, the 15 other boys who comprise this fall's team have improved and begun to show great promise for the future. Most notable are Jeff Smith and Ed Piscopo, sophomores who are running cross-country for the first time. Each has improved his time for the 2.9 mile course by a couple of minutes and along with Murphy should be the nucleus of a strong TMHS team next year.

Sorely missed after this season will be Joel Mallet, a senior who joined the team after the first meet and showed he could run as well as live things up with his happy-go-lucky personality.

Other seniors who have done well this fall include Kent Appleby, Doug Davidson, Alan Pepin, Peter Sartori and Marc Creamer.

Other returning runners are junior Gene Weitz, another late-comer who moved right in to the number five spot on the team, and sophomores Brian Tremblay, Drew Finsel, Don Pica, Tom Welch and Mike McLaughlin. The only freshman on the team is Peter Ferguson. All of these boys have shown great promise.

The team's top seven runners will be travelling going to the State Coaches Meet at Franklin Park November 5 and the State Championship Meet November 12.

Girls indoor track cracks TMHS schedule

Tewksbury High School will field a girls' indoor track team this coming winter under the direction of coach Dennis McGadden. Thanks to School Superintendent John Wynn, the school committee and the efforts of Acting Athletic Director Robert Aylward, a second winter sport will be available for selection by the girls at Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Up to this point the girls had to run on the boys winter track team if they wished to run winter track for the Redmen. "So many girls gave of their time and effort to see this dream come true. C. Irvine, C. Miranda, C. Maillet, J. Cole, M. Chaff, N. McDermott, T. Carey, M. Muise and last year's outstanding three, B. Luken, C. Hasberry and T. Forsyth. Coach McGadden thanks them, and dedicates in their names, the first season of girls indoor track.

Signups are now underway for any boy or girl wishing to tryout for this year's teams. A student must sign up in order to be given a tryout this season.

The 1983-84 boys team captains are Doug Davidson, David Lynch and Carl Kresien. For the first time ever girls' team, the captains are Beverly Luken and Tricia Forsyth, two very fine athletes. Coach McGadden and assistant coach William Piscopo invite anyone interested in running indoor track to sign up as soon as possible. Practice will begin November 28 and run for four weeks. There are many openings this season, as the Redmen will be running about 90 percent new team members for the boys and 100 percent for the girls.

Letter to the sports editor

At this time I wish to thank the Town Crier and Rick Cooke for all the support that has been shown over the years. I have not had good years in the winning area the past four years, but some fine athletes stuck with me, the school, the program and so has this paper. For this I am truly grateful.

Signed
Dennis McGadden

DiGirolamo helps UNH squad

The University of New Hampshire women's field hockey team is off to a flying start this season, posting a 10-2-1 record and is currently ranked sixth in the country. First year coach Marisa Didio has turned the program around after the Wildcats finished with a 7-9-2 record last season.

Wilmington freshman Michelle DiGirolamo is a member of the varsity squad. She was a member of the Merrimack Valley Conference champions as a senior at Wilmington High School. A chemical engineering major, she is the daughter of Robert and Gae DiGirolamo of Wilmington.

UNH has played some tough games so far this season against nationally ranked opponents. It defeated eighth ranked Northwestern and eleventh ranked Dartmouth, tied fifth ranked Penn State after two overtimes and lost a squeaker to third ranked Iowa.

Squirts top Billerica, 8-1

Squirt B's

Tewksbury vs Billerica

Again this week the Tewksbury B team was victorious, this win coming at the expense of the Billerica B team. Billerica got the first goal of the game early in the first period, and the game looked as though it might be a close one.

Both teams skated hard for half of the first period until Tewksbury's Marc McConnell notched Tewksbury's first goal of the game with an assist from Brian Andriolo. From this point it was all downhill for the Billerica team, as minutes later Brian Andriolo scored with an assist going to Matt Ferro and Marc McConnell. Marc McConnell then scored on a fine play set up by Brian Andriolo, who seemed to be everywhere in the first period. That score gave the locals a 3-1 lead.

In the second period the Tewksbury team got two quick goals, one by Brian Andriolo unassisted, followed by a goal by Kevin Nazzaro assisted by Ed Henderson and Robert Bussey.

The scoring continued in the third period with Robert Bussey picking up a goal unassisted early in the period on a shot from the blue line. Ed Henderson then scored his first goal of the game, also unassisted. Matt Ferro finished the scoring on a play set up by Brian Andriolo for the 8-1 final.

Tewksbury defensemen Billy Flynn, Jason Hughes, Jason Hyde, Anthony Lodi and goalie Rick Killian all played solid games for the winners.

Pee Wee B's

Tewksbury vs Manchester

The Tewksbury Pee Wee B squad took on the league leading Manchester team this week and although Tewksbury lost, 6-1, the game was much closer than the score indicates. Both teams played very hard in the first period, with good action at both ends of the ice. Goalie Peter Atherton turned in a performance that Pete Peeters would have envied, holding the Manchester team to only a one goal lead at the end of the first period.

In the second period Tewksbury's Tim Kieza scored on a play set up by the passing of Mark Whynot and Sean Conley to tie the score at 1-1. Manchester fought back getting its second and third goals late in the second period to take a 3-1 lead into the last stanza.

In the third period Manchester managed to score three more goals, while many other Manchester attempts were broken up by the fine defensive play of the Tewksbury team. Although the Tewksbury team lost it showed a great deal of character by never giving up and skating hard right up until the final buzzer.

Squirt B2

Tewksbury 15 Wilmington 2

The scoring machine took over sole possession of first place, as Mike Prifti, Mark Harrington and Mark Ingersoll netted hat tricks. Chris Minuk had two and Jeff MacNeil, Dave Whitman, Bill Dooley and John Pawelczyk all scored once.

Jeff MacNeil led the team with three assists. Chris Richard, Dan Gangemi, Mike Frasca, Dave Whitman and John Pawelczyk all had one assist. Bobby 'Redlight' Ernest was in net for the winners.

Mite A

Tewksbury 6 Dracut 1

Flashy Jay Beasley opened the scoring with an unassisted goal. Mike Delaney got the first of his three with Gerry Murphy assisting. Dave 'Mr. Mite' Henderson scored next, Doug Lottatore and Ryan Columbus assisting. Brandon Wagner then scored with Murph 'The Smurf' assisting. Mike Delaney scored the final two goals, with Murphy and Tom 'T.J.' McMenimen assisting.

Mike Correia and Mike DeGregorio both played well in net, with Steve 'Gretzky' Patterson working hard on both ends of the ice.

Pee Wee A

Tewksbury 4 Billerica 2

This was Marty Kusmaul's day to shine, as he netted his first hat trick of the year. B.J. 'Colt' Doherty had two assists. Paul Botto and Tsayoski Fukuda each assisted on Kusmaul's final goal.

Neil MacNeil scored the final goal assisted by Fukuda and Chris Foley. Keith Miles played a strong defensive game. Keith Blue was in net for the Redmen.

P.W.A.

Tewksbury 3 Woburn 2

Douglas Mann put the first score in net, with Paul Botto assisting. Tsuyoski Fukuda later scored off right wing with Doug Mann assisting. The game winner was scored by Neil MacNeil, as he stole the puck, went by two defensemen and then put the puck in the upper right corner of the net.

Tewksbury vs Nashua
The Tewksbury Squirt B team was victorious again this week with a strong showing over the third place Nashua B team. Getting the scoring started for Tewksbury was Robt Bussey, with an assist going to George DeGregorio. Marc McConnell then scored after taking a nifty pass from Brian Andriolo, who has been playing with a cast on his right arm. George DeGregorio got the third goal of the game on a play set up by Mark Boucher and Ed Henderson. Matt Ferro scored the last goal of the first period off a nice pass from Kevin Nazzaro.

In the second period Matt Ferro opened the scoring with his second and third goals of the game, with assists going to Brian Andriolo, Marc McConnell and Robert Bussey. Marc McConnell followed the Ferro goals with two goals of his own, both of which were unassisted. Nashua then came back with a goal to end the scoring for the second period.

Ed Henderson got the first goal of the third period on a nice play set up by Brian Andriolo. Nashua then scored on a breakaway that Tewksbury goaltender Ricky Killion had no chance on. Topping off the scoring in the period, Kevin Nazzaro scored unassisted to account for the final 10-1. This win keeps Tewksbury firmly in first place in the division with a record of 4-0-1.

Tewksbury vs Somerville
The Tewksbury Pee Wee B team played a strong Somerville squad, with Tewksbury coming away with the win. Brian Hoadley got the only score in the first period on a play set up by the fine passing of Michael Zotto and Tim Kicza. Tewksbury had many scoring chances in the second period, although only a shot by Ed Vicari was able to beat the Somerville goaltender, with the assist going to Joe Killion.

In the third period, David Sledz, showing both fine skating and shooting ability, got two goals with assists going to Richard Treem and David Perry. Somerville finished the scoring in the third period, getting its' only goal of the game and robbing Peter Atherton of what would have been a well deserved shutout and accounting for the final score of 4-1.

Kenneth Morgan, who received the Cadet of the Year award at the TewMac Composite Squadron for 1983, celebrated his 15th birthday October 20. This was a very special occasion and will be a lasting memory for both Ken and his family.

He wanted a flag pole and an American flag for his birthday this year. Peter Enos, Ken's grandfather was pleased to make him a flag pole and helped him install it at his home on Andover Street in Wilmington.

Dee Enos, Ken's grandmother was aware that it was possible to receive a flag that had flown over the Capitol of the U.S. in Washington.

Ken's parents, Joe and Rose Morgan, made the arrangements. Many thanks go to Rep. Jim Miceli, for helping make Ken's birthday wish come true. Rep. Miceli presented the flag, along with a personal letter, wishing Ken good fortune and continued success in all endeavors.

Fire engine ride

Wilmington's Engine 5 had to be hauled away on a flatbed trailer late Sunday afternoon, after the front end locked up. Firefighters had been called to a brush fire off Grove Avenue, on an old railroad spur now called "Leaky Lane." The engine, a 1967 Maxim, has been repaired and is back in service.

Meeting at West Intermediate to view, discuss 'Chemical People'

A Wilmington committee will conduct a community outreach effort to accompany the broadcast of "The Chemical People," a two part program aimed at drug and alcohol abuse in school age children that will be aired on Channel 2 in two parts at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, November 2 and 9.

A community meeting is scheduled for Nov. 9 at the West Intermediate School at 7:15 p.m. where parents may view Part II and then discuss the issue with a panel of professionals in this field.

The aim of the community meeting is to establish a permanent task force that will take continuing action against the problem of drug and alcohol abuse by school age children.

The committee asks that parents view Part I in their homes on Nov. 2 (8 p.m., Channel 2). Then, on Nov. 9, 7:15 p.m. at the West Intermediate School, parents are urged to attend the community meeting. Committee members have also expressed a strong desire to have as many students attend and participate as possible.

A preliminary timetable for the evening would be: 7 p.m., school

Surprise party for Edith Cunningham

Edith Cunningham is the coordinator for the Wilmington Council on Aging, a position she has held for over five years. Nearly every day she is to be found at the Senior Citizen Drop-in Center at Wilmington Plaza. A native of Wilmington, she recently earned a bachelor's degree in gerontology, from a New Hampshire college.

It was a long time in coming. Edith first started her studies 20 years ago, at Boston University. Since then she has attended other colleges, one of them being the Middlesex College. She spent the last year and a half in attending college in New Hampshire, weekends.

On October 31 Edith was a little surprised, but not much, when Joyce McAttee arrived at the Drop-in Center around 11 a.m. Joyce is the liaison officer in this area for the Massachusetts Department of Elder Affairs. She was also one of the teachers in New Hampshire, under whom Edith studied.

Edith concluded that Joyce was visiting Wilmington because of some appointment that was to be made. Edith had been on vacation for a week and had to catch up on the local news of the Department of Elder Affairs.

Then Selectman Bobby Cain dropped in. Well, Mr. Cain frequently is to be seen at the Drop-in Center.

But more people dropped in, including Nicki Johnson, president of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and Josephine Kelley, chairman of the Council on Aging. Edith didn't know what to say, so many unexpected guests arrived.

Suddenly she was presented with some balloons from a lady dressed as a clown, red nose and all, Jeannette Langone of Woburn. That started things off.

The guests were celebrating, and honoring her, for having acquired that degree in gerontology. There was a presentation of a Paul Revere Patriot citation from Governor Dukakis, and of citations from Reps. Michael Barrett and Jim Miceli. There was also one from Senator Buell.

By the time that the cake was to be cut, Edith had over 50 surprise visitors, all wishing her well.

"I was spellbound," she confesses. And, if anything can make Edith spellbound, it must have been quite an event.

Subdivision plans filed for Great Neck Drive

Great Neck Drive is to be the name of a street off Woburn Street in Wilmington according to plans filed with the Wilmington Planning Board November 1. The street will go into

Objections mis-stated says planning board

Two recent decisions of the Wilmington Board of Appeals are making the Wilmington Planning Board unhappy. The board voted, on November 1 to write the appeal board about those decisions.

One was for property on Main Street, opposite Clark Street and adjacent to the Dunkin' Donuts Shop. It had been made by the C.A. Mack Company and was for a 3552 square foot office building.

The other was for a division of a lot of land owned by Rita Voner of 4 Phillips Ave. That lady has a lot of 17,000 square feet which the board of appeals is allowing to be divided into two lots.

In both instances the board of appeals decision said that the "Planning Board does not object to the proposed variances."

The planning board members pointed out that they did object, and that the objections were stated in letters to the board of appeals. They are asking the board of appeals to correct its decisions, so as to show that there were objections.

property which was formerly owned by the late Mildred Buck. Ten lots of land are proposed, some of which will be three and four acres in area.

The land is now owned by Tellerzip Inc., P.O. Box 405, Wilmington, owned by Joseph Langone and Richard Stuart.

The planning board will probably hold a public hearing on the proposed real estate development on December 13.

The board also signed plans for the development of Blanchard Road, at the end of Kendall Street and for the first "hammerhead" lot in Wilmington, to be located off Butters Row.

Opposed to sign plans

Michael McCoy's proposed sign for his pizza house on Lowell Street can be the real McCoy. So the Wilmington Planning Board decided November 1, as they voted against the appeal McCoy has before the Board of Appeals.

McCoy appeared before the planning board November 1. He said he wanted the sign to be as high as 17 feet instead of 15, and to be five feet from the property line instead of the required 10. He had already petition-

Van burns

A Ford van was destroyed by fire Tuesday evening in North Wilmington, at the intersection of Routes 93 and 62, at about 6:30 p.m. The engine compartment of the van, owned by North Shore Fuels of Billerica, caught fire, with the fire engulfing the front of the van. The back of the van was luckily spared — it contained acetylene and oxygen tanks, and two cans of kerosene, none of which exploded. Driver Art Konig of North Reading was uninjured.

Blue Cross/Blue Shield has notified the Council that open enrollment for Medex policies will be from December 1 to January 31.

Supplementary insurance

Since the price of medical treatment is growing rapidly and Medicare not covering 80 percent of the bill submitted by the hospital or doctor, but 80 percent of what the Medicare board feels is a reasonable amount for the treatment received, it is time to consider a supplement policy to Medicare. Those not already carrying a Medex policy, may subscribe to either Medex Standard at $68.76 a quarter; Medex II at $86.61; or Medex III at $103.17 a quarter.

JIM ELICONE in his gun shop in Stoneham, demonstrating how one must break the action before handing the gun to someone else. Elicone is holding a shot gun, a Winchester, Model 23. The hand engraving on the receiver brings the price of this gun way up. (Mike Saija photo)

PART I

GUNS: There are more of them than people to use them

By STEVAN-ADELE MORLEY

Who buys guns? Who sells them to us? And are there other reasons for wanting to own them?

Jim Elicone is a gun dealer in Stoneham. He does not advertise his business per se. The sign that reads Guns Sold - outside his shop, located at 297 Main Street - is a much smaller sign than the one that advertises a Collectors Coin Gallery inside. But Jim Elicone stays busy. In an eight-hour work day he averages ten gun sales.

Elicone attended Franklin Institute in Boston. There he earned his Associate Degree in Electrical Design Engineering. He went to work for a very prestigious firm in Boston. He explains, "I was only 21 at the time. The work held no real challenge for me. There were too many of us just sitting around marking time. I had to be busy. Coins were a hobby of mine. So, I opened a coin shop in Saugus. When my store burned down, I moved the business to Stoneham in 1978. I dealt strictly with coins. In 1979 and 1980 coins were the thing. Business was booming. Silver peaked at $50 an ounce. Gold peaked at $600 an ounce. Then, as the markets turned in 1980 and 1981, people seemed to lose interest in coins."

Elicone had a personal interest in guns. "Guns always fascinated me. Now, because I had more time for myself, I tried to buy a few of the guns I was most interested in. They were either too expensive, or I couldn't find just what I wanted. But I learned something. Most gun dealers were selling guns but they didn't know the business end of it. They knew their guns but not the marketing end of the business. As it was, I began to learn not only guns but the business of buying and selling them. That was the first of 1982."

Elicone did his homework. He learned what was popular throughout the country, and he learned what the right prices were. He learned he would have to have a good stock of all popular items. And he knew he would have to sell that item less than anybody else and still make a living selling it. He says, "You have to find a point in the price where you can survive, but your competitors can't."

He applied for his Federal Firearms license, got his state license to sell firearms and ammunition, which is issued in the town the business is in. Elicone hung out his new, smaller sign, added a stock of guns to his coin collection, and he was in business. The first year he did well. "Already, in 1983, I've done twice the business I did the year before. And the majority of people don't even know I am here."

Elicone says he has no ill conscience about selling guns to people. "I can only sell them to licensed people in this state, and the state gives out the license."

HANDGUN CONTROL

Battles over handgun control remain uncertain. Those calling the shots on both sides of the issue are claiming significant gains.

The NRA (National Rifle Association) and other organizations have successfully pushed through laws in at least four states to take the gun-control issue out of the hands of local governments in the past few months.

These statutes specifically prohibit individual cities or towns from imposing local gun controls. These laws reserve that authority exclusively for the state.

There are those who want stricter measures - longer waiting periods, to allow time to investigate applicants, before permits to carry concealed weapons are issued. And, in addition, prohibit anyone who has been convicted of a firearms-related felony or a drug abuse charge, or who has a record of mental disorder, from possessing a handgun.

But, on the other side of the issue, there are those who fight against restrictions that in any way interfere with what is considered a law-abiding citizen's inalienable right to buy or carry firearms.

One state's statute does include specific language which prevents individual communities from enacting stricter gun-control measures or an outright handgun ban.

Efforts to enact gun-control statutes, especially those that would ban the purchase or ownership of such weapons, have Ontario, the second largest province of Canada, stretches from the Great Lakes to Hudson Bay and the southern part is known as the Garden of Canada for its importance in agricultural production. Originally populated by only Eskimos and Indians, the French and English came later.

They were both soldiers and settlers whose forts and battlefields, missionary outposts and stockaded villages, still remain. But settlement really flourished with the influx of thousands of loyalists fleeing from the American revolution. From that time until now, Ontario has welcomed people from everywhere in the world.

Niagara Falls, the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence Seaway and thousands of lakes and waterways lie within its borders representing one-quarter of the world's fresh water. The Indians appropriately called the vast land Ontario, meaning "shining waters."

The area between the waterfalls, Chaudiere and Rideau, was just a cedar swamp among boulder-strewn promontaries along the river when Lt. Col. John By and his engineering crew arrived in 1826 to build the Rideau Canal. The settlement which he founded bore his name and was called Bytown until it was changed to Ottawa in 1855.

Ottawa

After considerable debate over the location of a capital city for the Dominion, the controversial question finally was settled by Queen Victoria in 1857 when she selected Ottawa to be the national capital, much to everyone's surprise. Ottawa's selection represented a compromise in the blend of two national cultures of Canada, the English and the French.

Over the years the city has undertaken a massive restoration and developed large open spaces. Added to its picturesque setting on the Ottawa River, the green public parks, gardens and impressive boulevards create a clean and uncluttered atmosphere. Historic structures of the old city blend with the new modern government buildings and expansion has extended across the river to the city of Hull in Quebec.

Parliament Hill

On a bluff overlooking the river, tower the three Gothic stone Parliament buildings. The Centre Block houses the House of Commons, the Senate and the polygon-shaped Parliamentary Library built in 1876. This is the original library which survived the disastrous fire of 1916 which destroyed the main building. Designed in similar architecture, the new Parliament was erected with a 291-foot high Peace Tower topped with a 53-bell carillon and containing a white marble memorial chapel to commemorate Canada's servicemen. The clock chamber offers visitors a magnificent view of the city and surrounding area. A beautifully landscaped lawn slopes down from the building to the street and contains the eternal flame burning since the centennial year of 1967 as a symbol of Canada's nationhood. The East and West

Quannapowitt Players present "The Fourposter" in November

The Quannapowitt Players have announced the cast and crew assignments for their upcoming winter production, "The Fourposter" by Jan de Hartog. This three-act comedy, to be directed by Frances Richard of Reading, replaces the originally scheduled play, "Talley's Folly" by Lanford Wilson.

"The Fourposter" refers to a bed which is the dominant setting piece technically and symbolically throughout the play. The production, which calls for only one male and one female character, is a poignant chronicle of the significant events occurring during a couple's thirty-five year marriage. Beginning with Agnes and Michael's first nervous yet blissful days as newlyweds in 1890, the play traverses both the rocky and well-travelled roads of wedlock and parenthood. The dialogue and scenes depicted will evoke many knowing sighs in the Q.P. audience.

Capturing these coveted roles are two of Q.P.'s finest and most respected thespians: Marcia Friedman and Hugh Metzler, both of Wakefield. Marcia and Hugh have extensive acting credits both at the Quannapowitt Playhouse and other community and dinner theatres.

Q.P. audiences will remember Marcia, who will play Agnes, as Madame Cot, the frustrated wife in "Hotel Paradiso." She "cried real tears" as the spacy housekeeper-soap-opera fanatic, Mrs. Naugahide, in "The Soapy Murder Case." Marcia was also seen a few seasons back as the lead in "Veronica's Room" and Monica in "Cheaters."

Last year, this actress portrayed the mother in Q.P.'s entry into the New England Theatre Conference drama festival — "The Lost Boy," an adaptation by Harold Bond of a Thomas Wolfe story. Marcia won the Best Supporting Actress award at N.E.T.C. in 1979.

Fresh from his recent role as Morris, Garry Essendine's friend-partner with ambivalent allegiances in "Present Laughter" is Hugh Metzler, who will portray Michael. Hugh will undoubtedly be remembered for his role as Monsieur Martin, the bumbling, umbrella-toting father of the four flighty girls with his storm-related stuttering problem from last season's hit "Hotel Paradiso." Other roles which this actor made memorable are the prosecutor in "The Runner Stumbles," Tom Wingfield in "The Glass Menagerie" and "the young man" in "Veronica's Room." Hugh has been nominated twice, in 1978 and 1980, for Best Actor at N.E.T.C.

Hugh and Marcia worked together recently in the Reading Summer Theatre Company's production of "Sweeney Todd." Hugh portrayed Judge Turpin and Marcia assumed the role of Mrs. Lovett.

"The Fourposter" boasts the following production crew: Co-producers — Eric Thompson of Reading and Donna Corbet of Wakefield; Stage-Manager; Steven E. Wilson of Reading; Light-Designer; Eric Thompson, Light Operator; Marianne Uttam of Reading; Set-Construction; David Low of Stoneham, Set-Dresser and Props; David Huygens of Stoneham, Costumes and Hair; Jerry DeCarlo of Wakefield and Pamela M. Denning of North Reading, Dressers; Diane Lind of Melrose and Pamela M. Denning and Stage Crew; Mark A. Szytko of Danvers, Barbara A. Davis of Everett, Marilyn Wales of Wakefield, Eric Thompson and Donna Corbett.

Production dates for "The Fourposter" are November 18, 19, 25, 26, 27 and December 1, 2 and 3. Four shows are already completely sold out and tickets remain available only for productions on November 18, 25, 27 and December 1. A free performance for senior citizens is scheduled for Thursday, November 17 at 8:15 p.m. For ticket information and reservations for regular performances, call the Q.P. Playhouse at 55 Hopkins Street, Reading 944-4949.

Ask Congressman Claude Pepper

Hypothermia & the elderly

Q. I have read that thousands of elderly "freeze to death" each winter in their own homes. I have heard the medical term "hypothermia" associated with this phenomenon. What is hypothermia and can it be prevented?

A. Hypothermia means low body temperature, typically 95 F or under. When body heat is lost to a cold environment faster than it is replaced, body temperature falls and hypothermia results. But a simple drop in skin temperature is not hypothermia. While hypothermia can sometimes develop slowly, it usually occurs fairly quickly, over a period of a few days.

An estimated 2.5 million older Americans are especially vulnerable to hypothermia and a significant number become victims after exposure to a relatively mild cold. Experts estimate that 25,000 older persons die from hypothermia every year in the United States. This ranks hypothermia as the sixth leading cause of death among older adults in this country.

Among the elderly, those most likely to develop hypothermia are the chronically ill, the frail, the very old, the poor who are unable to afford enough heat and those vulnerable individuals who do not know how to keep warm when exposed to low indoor temperatures. It also is important to recognize that many prescription drugs commonly taken by older adults — such as Valium, or phenothiazines — can make them more vulnerable to the threat of hypothermia.

Although the condition usually occurs in a cold environment, temperatures do not have to be below freezing for death to result. It is now well established that low room temperatures are potentially lethal to millions of older Americans who now are being forced to reduce indoor temperatures out of economic necessity. Most hypothermia victims are affected by temperatures between 30 and 50 F.

There are a number of factors that increase the risk of hypothermia. Older adults often develop low body temperature because they have difficulty conserving body heat. Many things can interfere with their ability to produce body heat or cause an increase in the loss of heat from an older person's body, including drugs, illness, stroke and nervous disorders. Skin disease, poor circulation, mental illness, immobilizing diseases, hypothyroidism, alcohol, deficient diets or a previous history of hypothermia also can cause the body to be susceptible to a loss of body heat.

It is not easy to recognize hypothermia or low body temperature in an older person. Most older adults develop hypothermia over a period of three days to one week. Family members often report that the only "unusual" thing they noticed was a growing confusion.

Some common signs and symptoms of hypothermia include: confusion and reduced alertness; trembling on one side of the body or in one arm or leg; shivering in the early stages; absence of shivering as the condition worsens; cold and stiff muscles; cold abdomen and back; difficulty in speaking; slow breathing; bloated face with pale and waxy skin; forgetfulness, drowsiness or unconsciousness.

A person suspected of having hypothermia should have his or her rectal temperature taken with a special thermometer, if possible. If the person's temperature is below 95 F a doctor or ambulance should be summoned or the victim should be taken directly to a hospital. If emergency medical help is slow to arrive, further heat loss can be prevented by wrapping the victim in a warm blanket. Food and drink, rubbing of limbs or sudden movement can pose further dangers for a hypothermic person and should be avoided. The victim should not try to walk or move around, nor be placed in a hot bath or shower.

When it is cold, the body loses heat in many ways. Older persons need to take certain precautions to conserve body heat by eating properly, avoiding excessive alcohol intake and drinking enough liquids. They should get plenty of rest and exercise, wear properly insulated and dry clothing. And older persons who have had hypothermia before should avoid cold weather as much as possible.

Ottawa : More than just the capital city of Canada

Blocks contain committee rooms and offices of the members of parliament.

Rideau Hall

The Mile of History begins at Parliament Hill, extends through Confederation Square and ends at Government House, also known as Rideau Hall, the residence of the Governor General, who serves as Queen Elizabeth's representative in Canada. His duties include serving as host to royalty, heads of state and official visitors, but his most important responsibility is to ensure that Canada always has a Prime Minister.

Rideau Hall is surrounded by spacious lawns and gardens and the entrance is flanked by red-coated Royal Guards. The limestone mansion contains an ornate ballroom, reception rooms, state dining rooms, the Royal Suite where Prince Charles and Princess Diana stayed on their recent summer visit, and a unique Tent Room built originally for court tennis but now used for informal receptions and parties for young people. Among the portraits of former Governor Generals hanging in the mansion is that of Lord Stanley, 1888-1893, of Stanley Cup fame. Nearby overlooking the Ottawa River is the estate of Prime Minister Trudeau next to the French embassy.

Flowing through the city is Rideau Canal which officially opened in 1832 to connect Ottawa with Kingston on Lake Ontario and serve as a military supply route. The canal is now not only an historic attraction but becomes the country's longest skating rink in winter when it is possible to skate through the city incorporated as the city of Hull in 1875.

Government is the big employer in the area. Of the 726,100 population in the Ottawa-Hull Region, 13.8% or 100,294 work for the federal government not including those employed by the Crown Corporations such as Air Canada, CBC, etc.

Gatineau Park

A short ride from Ottawa is Gatineau Park, a high, rolling wooded area with clear, deep lakes where the natural environment is preserved. It is abundant in wildlife, nature trails and areas for swimming, picnicking, cross-country skiing and other recreational activities. Within the park is the Mackenzie King Estate, Kingsmere, the country home of the late Prime Minister who served in office for 22 years. Here in the Gatineau hills he found an escape to peace and solitude and under his administration in 1937 land acquisition for the park began. At his death in 1950 he bequeathed his estate to the Canadian government. Near his home one can visit the Greek and Roman "ruins" which he designed and constructed from his elaborate collection of stones collected from all over the world. At the teahouse in the park we experienced our only uncordial reception of the trip to Canada when in spite of a severe thunderstorm, those who did not wish to purchase refreshments were forced to remain outside on the porch as shelter from the pouring rain.

The storm cleared in time for us to enjoy a steak barbeque set up in a tent in the picnic area of the park before we returned to Ottawa for the evening celebration of Canada Day, July 1.

Canada Day

At almost midnight a spectacular burst of fireworks filled the sky over Parliament Hill in a colorful and noisy climax to the day-long celebration of Canada Day. The observance of the nation's 116th birthday attracted crowds estimated at up to 150,000 converging on Ottawa to participate in the national holiday, the equivalent of our Fourth of July. Fortunately our group had a bird's-eye view from the roof of the American Embassy directly across the street. The red and white maple leaf flag waved everywhere and the sky was filled with balloons.

Attended by Prime Minister Trudeau and his sons, the evening festivities included an outdoor entertainment program featuring Rene and Natalie Simard, a young brother and sister singing and dance act, who were wildly cheered and applauded by the enthusiastic crowd, and a popular male singing group called the Nylons whose lead singer is Claude Morrison, a native of Ottawa. The program closed with thousands of voices raised in a stirring "O Canada," their national anthem.

The morning events had begun with the 30-minute Changing of the Guard ceremony on Parliament Hill displaying a combination of tradition, pageantry and military precision, followed by a speech by the Governor General and various sport and cultural activities throughout the day.

A popular spot was Victoria Island where a week-long Canada Canoe Festival was being held. Indians representing all tribes from throughout Canada were here to participate in canoe races, native fashion shows and cultural projects. They had set up trading posts, arts and craft displays and food booths.

At noon a special ceremony was held on the bridge spanning the Ottawa River when the residents of Hull, Quebec and Ottawa, Ontario, carrying their flags, paraded to the center and joined in singing their national anthem.

During our few days' stay we sampled the old part of the city with dinner in the Courtyard in the Old Market Place where we tasted Arctic char, a fish abundant in the James Bay area with a flavor similar to salmon, and lunch in the authentic old Mill Restaurant. The following day in marked contrast we lunched in the modern La Ronde, a revolving restaurant on top of the Holiday Inn, which provided a sumptuous buffet and a beautiful view of the entire region during its almost two-hour turn. The beef roulade and veal were delicious at the Lindhoff, a German restaurant, but the apple fritters for dessert were worth another trip to Ottawa.

The view from the terrace of the National Arts Center overlooks the city and the canal and at the center we enjoyed lunch with officials from the Department of External Affairs. The menu included lobster salad, steak topped with asparagus and hollandaise sauce and refreshing sherbert in chocolate cups. Canadian wines were served and we were surprised to learn that the Canadians produce several good wines.

A relaxing boat ride on the Ottawa River, complete with a buffet and entertainment, was a welcome change of pace and gave us an opportunity to meet informally with officials and their wives who joined us in celebration of the evening before Canada Day.

During a visit to the Public Affairs Section of the U. S. Embassy, the officials discussed U.

S. and Canada relations in the area of diplomacy, agriculture and the cruise missile controversy which was being debated in Canada at that time and which later was approved. We visited the press room next door where Prime Minister Trudeau holds his press conferences.

A morning of briefing sessions was held at the Department of External Affairs. Derek Arnould, Director of the External Information Programs Division, discussed U. S. and Canada relations. Commenting that the countries are good friends, neighbors and partners in NATO, he said Americans must also realize that there are important differences. Missionary zeal is a national characteristic of Canadians and they are inclined to take a more centralist stand on moral issues than the U. S. They frequently pursue the middle path in peace missions and in welcoming refugees and draft dodgers to begin anew with them. In his opinion Americans know what they are but Canadians are still discovering themselves.

The External Affairs Department was founded in 1909 and has grown to more than 120 posts abroad with 14 in the U. S. The population of Canada has grown from 9 million in 1950 to 25 million today and it is still an immigrant country but with some restrictions now because of high unemployment.

Rick Kirby of the U. S. Division of General Relations compared the relationship of the two countries to the elephant sleeping with a mouse — every movement affects the mouse. When their usual policy of quiet diplomacy failed in the fishing treaty, Canada turned to more public diplomacy, according to Kirby, and he listed the major areas of concern between the countries as American protectionism, extra-territorial legislation and environmental, especially acid rain. Kirby asked that Americans get to know the Canadians better and remember that like the best of friends they are bound to disagree at times.

The relationship of Canada's ten provinces was the subject of Jacques Asselin's talk. He is from the Federal-Provincial Relations Branch and most of his discussion concerned the problems of the French speaking in Quebec, which he believes is resulting in a stronger sense of nationality in the country.

ESTATE PLANNING

New tax laws now make it possible for estate planning to save more money than ever before. The Melrose-Wakefield Hospital is offering a free two-session seminar to assist participants in their estate planning.

The estate planning seminar will be held on Monday, November 14 and Tuesday, November 15 at 7:00 p.m. in the Hospital's Perkins Lecture Hall.

Most people have plans that do not take advantage of the new benefits which now can be incorporated into a will or trust.

It is estimated that 95 percent of married persons who have an estate plan will pay $75,000 in Federal estate taxes over two lifetimes. With some minor changes to those estate plans, utilizing the new tax laws, all $75,000 could be saved.

The sessions will cover wills and how to choose a personal representative-executor, the marital deduction benefit, the common disaster problem, jointly owned property, the probate process, Federal and State taxes, gift taxes, methods of transferring assets, domicile, the use of trusts in estate planning, ways to be charitable and planning concepts, under the Economic Recovery Act of 1981.

The program is presented in easy-to-understand language and is entertaining. In addition to the presentation, hand-out material will be given to the participants.

The Presenter for the program is Terry D. Mayo, a professional estate planning counselor with a national reputation and clientele.

The program is intended to provide information to the participants so they can discuss more effectively their estate planning needs with their attorneys, accountants, bank trust officers or other financial advisors.

The Melrose-Wakefield Hospital provides this program as a free service to the community without obligation or commitment.

"We believe many of our friends will be able to more effectively plan their financial affairs as a result of this program," said Kenneth T. Garland, the hospital's Director of Fund Development.

All participants must be registered in advance and may do so by calling the Hospital at 662-7200 extension 3510.

ANTIQUARIAN BOOKS

admission proceeds from the Fair will benefit the Boston Public Library.

Among the rarities on display will include a first edition of Gone With the Wind; a special edition of Baudelaire's Les Fleurs du Mal illustrated and inscribed by Henri Matisse; a rare first edition of The White Peacock, D.H. Lawrence's first book; a first edition of Robert Frost's Mountain Interval containing an unpublished, handwritten poem by the author on the front end paper; and an 1896 edition of Geoffrey Chaucer's works selling for $14,000.

Also on display will be various maps, autographs, engravings, and rare printed matter such as a 160-piece collection of illustrated materials on extraordinary people who were exhibited as freaks during the 18th-20th century.

The hours for the fair are: Friday, November 11, 6-10 p.m.; Saturday, November 12, 12 noon-8 p.m.; and Sunday, November 13, 12 noon-6 p.m. Admission is $3.50 on Saturday and Sunday. A special $7.50 admission charge on Friday evening will buy unlimited attendance throughout the weekend event.

Toads in your garden should always be a welcome sight, says National Wildlife's Ranger Rick magazine. One toad eats up to 10,000 insects in one summer.

You think you live in cramped quarters? Cave dwelling bats may roost at densities of up to 300 bats per square foot, according to International Wildlife magazine. And a single cave may house more than 40 million bats.

A bull would be just as infuriated by a matador's green cape as by a red one, says

International Wildlife magazine, since a bull has little or no color vision.

Burial plots in land-starved Hong Kong are not only expensive but also risk relocation as the living crowd out the dead, National Geographic reports.

Scientists still aren't sure whether all animals sleep. They think that nearly all pause in their daily activity, but whether all of those breaks are true sleep is a mystery waiting to be solved, National Geographic World points out.

Creative aquatic or maritime dress is requested. Music will be provided by the Winkler Orchestra. Tickets are $15 per person and are available by sending a check or money order made payable to Boston Harborfest, Inc., along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Boston Harborfest, 45 School Street, Boston, 02108. Tickets will also be available at the door. For more information, call 227-1528.

Christmas at Castle Hill

The sounds and sights of Christmas highlight Castle Hill's five-part Sunday Chamber Music Series this fall. The Boston Boy Choir, with St. Paul Men's Schola and Handbell Choir, fill the lavishly decorated Great House with traditional Christmas music on November 27 at 4 and 8 PM. The ballroom of the 59-room Stuart mansion on the Crane Estate in Ipswich is the site for all series performances.

The Chamber Music Series opens November 6 with music from Gaubert, Bach, Pinkham, Saint-Saens, Vivaldi and Debussy performed by Boston Symphony Orchestra flutist Doriot Anthony Dwyer, violinist Carol Lieberman and harpist Carol Baum. On November 13, renowned harpsichordist Mark Kroll performs Bach's Goldberg Variations.

Following the second annual "Christmas at Castle Hill" festivities, the Alexander String Quartet performs Beethoven's String Quartet, op. 130 and Mozart's String Quartet in D minor on December 4. The series closes December 11 with the appearance of Boston Symphony Orchestra concertmaster and assistant conductor Joseph Silverstein. The baroque violinist joins Mark Kroll to perform Handel and Bach sonatas.

Two performances of each Chamber Music Series program will be given at 4 and 8 PM. The Great House will open one-half hour prior to each performance. Tickets are $15 and may be purchased from Castle Hill or, on a limited basis, from Bostix outlets. Group and subscription discounts are available. For tickets and information, call 356-4070.

Unusual gifts offered

From a solid brass electroscope, the latest thing in kaleidoscopes, to handblown ornaments made of Mt. St. Helens lava, the Museum of Science Store in Boston offers an unusual array of holiday gifts.

Reflecting Museum exhibitions and science-related hobbies, the gifts provide a wide choice for different ages and interests.

Coming Attractions

By William Pacino

In addition to the electroscope, triggered by sound, toys include stuffed animals, dinosaur models from British Museum molds, a snail pull toy of wood, and boomerangs. Construction sets such as popoids, and motorized kits with diagrams for making 39 motorized toys attract adults as well as children.

The hobby gifts range from a physics lab and a solar energy lab to microscopes and telescopes. Space toys, puzzles, and world globes are also available.

Other gift ideas are the sterling silver Moebius Band ring and bracelet by Boston jeweler John Lewis; a wave machine 19 inches long in continuous motion; and hanging ornaments in iridescent colors. A glass spiral sphere recreates the mathematical theory of curves shown in the Museum's Mathematica exhibit.

From miniatures to Museum gifts, from King Neptune to Ask the Lawyer, COMING ATTRACTIONS has a little something for everyone. But we have an on-going need for information on the various local events and happenings. If you know of an event of interest to all, write, care of this local newspaper, and tell us all about it. As you can see, we travel very easily between Ipswich, Danvers and Boston.

FM TALK: These are some of the things that I ruminated over this past week:

Television buffs, remember Ron Ely? He was that tall handsome, muscular, blonde guy who played Tarzan in the sixties. Well, Ely turned up as a guest at the Burlington Marriott recently, but was very disappointed when no one recognized him right off the bat. He seemed particularly miffed by a bevy of young ladies who, upon hearing his name, wanted to know "Ron who?" Even tv's Tarzan has suffered from the work of Father Time and the arrival of a whole new generation. I have to admit, though, that for a guy in his fifties, Ely was in terrific physical shape.

Have you noticed how exceptionally beautiful this fall has been?...The reviews of the newest James Bond film, "Never Say Never Again," featuring the return of the original 007, Sean Connery, have been pretty good, but I think Roger Moore, notwithstanding all the knocks he's been taking from reviewers about his age, is the better—classier of the two Bonds. It's only an opinion, though....Here's a hot item I'm sure both Bonds come equipped with: bulletproof clothing. An ad recently ran in Forbes magazine emphasizing that "success means risk" and pushing the latest bulletproof fashions for the "fast-moving executive." I know a couple of reporters who could use some of that stuff.

Paul Corbett, program director for the very popular Nashville Network on cable television, noted recently on a late night news show that Boston is the only market in the country where viewers do not go for country music. There are at least two radio station program directors in this area who would dispute Corbett's remark....He may have been a monthly clutz, but now that James Watt isn't in the news anymore, who will columnists like Art Buchwald have to kick around?...Talk about taking up precious court time, not to mention taxpayers' money, over petty cases! Have you heard about the case going on right now in Graham, Washington? That state's high court will rule this week on a dispute over a farmer who wants to keep a tamed raccoon in a cage in his back yard. Apparently there is a law in Washington that prohibits the caging of raccoons. This farmer who's been waging the court battle to keep his pet raccoon caged claims turning his tamed raccoon loose would be more harmful than keeping him confined. Oh, well, the world continues to spin.

The city of Cleveland is about to enact a new law of its own this week. Police there will no longer arrest shoplifters who steal less than five hundred dollars worth of goods....Franklin Library's new "Signed First Editions" collection is about to be kicked off with Allen Drury's outstanding novel Decision, which, according to publisher Joseph Sloves, "concerns a terrorist who tries to blow up an atomic energy plant, murders a couple of people, and at one point breaks out of jail aided by his court-appointed woman lawyer and a gun smuggled in by her; then they go on the run."

Recently a Tennessee murderer escaped from jail aided by his court-appointed woman lawyer and a gun smuggled in by her; they then went on the run to the Florida Gold Coast. The irony here is that Drury wrote Decision a year before the real-life incident occurred!

While on the subject of writers, here's an item that's sure to inspire hopeful authors-to-be: columnist Le Anne Schreiber noted recently, "The only trustworthy constant I have found among writers who will talk about their work is the frequent admission that they don't have the vaguest idea of what actually happens to them while they are writing." Well, to expand upon that quote, here's another from Harold Ross, the famous editor of the New Yorker, explaining Ring Lardner's success to James Thurber: "I asked Lardner the other day how he writes his short stories, and he said he wrote a few widely separated words or phrases on a piece of paper and then went back and filled in the spaces." It sounds simple as heck, but give it a try some lazy Sunday afternoon.

We've been hearing a lot about "the greenhouse effect" lately. Well, I've been thinking it over, and maybe it wouldn't be such a bad idea if the ocean expanded and New York City was washed out to sea....John Hamilton, that brilliant musician and singer who's played a couple of the local establishments as a solo performer, he appeared briefly as one of the piano duo at one of the hotels, has just formed a new group called Newsboy. I'll let you know when they're going to appear locally. John is well worth going out of your way to see and hear....Here's the latest advertising gimmick to hit New York City (and it probably won't be long before we begin to see it in Boston): mini bill boards over urinals in men's rooms! Some people will go to any length to get a message across.

I have been a long time fan of the hit tv series "Hill Street Blues," but I think network producers are ruining a good thing by running the concept into the ground with that new spin-off entitled "Bay City Blues." Enough hill and city blues already....Here's something to consider when you next dismiss the importance of videos in the record business: Michael Jackson's newest video cost one million dollars to make and was directed by John Landis, the fellow who's career got miserably entangled in law suits following the untimely death of Vic Morrow on the set of his last movie "The Twilight Zone." Now consider how much money zillionaire Jackson will make when his new video hits the market at about $29.95 a tape....If movies happen to be your thing, you might want to also consider taking in a weekend at Arrowwood, in Rye Brook, New York, this November 18-20, with popular tv and newspaper film critics Gene Siskel and Rober Ebert. The always-lively duo will spend the entire weekend critiquing five modern classics including some of the more outstanding works by Brando, DeNiro, Bertolucci, Malle, Scorsese, et al.

Before my soul preached to me, Love was in my heart as a tiny thread fastened between two pegs. — Kahlil Gibran.

Make it a good week.

Campaign on to end use of abandoned pets in research

The campaign to end the use of lost and abandoned pets in Massachusetts laboratories is in full swing as 1,600 volunteers canvass the Commonwealth seeking signatures of registered voters in an initiative petition drive.

Protect Our Pets (ProPets), a coalition organized by the New England Anti-Vivisection Society and the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, is leading the campaign. Samuel Rotondi, former state senator from Winchester, is chairman of ProPets.

ProPets filed an initiative petition on Aug. 3 with the Attorney General which would repeal the Massachusetts pound seizure law and make it illegal to use any dog or cat obtained from a dog officer, municipal pound or animal shelter for experimental purposes. Under present law, 2,000 lost or abandoned pets are seized from Massachusetts pounds by research labs each year. An additional 4,000 former pet dogs and cats are brought into the Commonwealth for experimental purposes.

According to Rotondi, the response from the general public has been overwhelming. "In fact, we were totally unprepared for such a response. We've increased the size of our office staff to handle the calls and letters to get the workers involved immediately," Rotondi said. "It is truly gratifying to know that so many people are concerned about these unfortunate pets. Research can and will continue without this particular supply of animals."

ProPets must gather at least 61,000 signatures of registered voters between now and Nov. 23 in order to have the petition presented to the 1984 legislature. If the legislature fails to adopt the petition into law, ProPets must gather an additional 10,000 signatures to place the issue on the November 1984 statewide ballot.

Anyone interested in making the use of pets in research their pet peeve can obtain more information from ProPets by writing to Suite 508, 10 Tower Office Park, Woburn, Ma. 01801, or by calling (617) 938-9004.

Shortbread Brulee - Exquisite Dessert For The Harried Homemaker

If you're among the growing number of working women, you know what a challenge it can be to juggle the many responsibilities that fill your days. Lack of time and energy can make even the most routine event, like the daily dinner, a hassle. More and more we find ourselves relying on convenience foods and while they're handy, from time to time it's still fun to prepare something special, particularly an unusual dessert.

This recipe for Shortbread Brulee is ideal to tuck away for when that creative urge strikes. It's exquisite and can be made in minutes using Pepperidge Farm Shortbread Cookies. The cookies are arranged in a baking dish. A custard made with egg yolks, sugar, milk and heavy cream is poured over them and the mixture is baked. Once the custard is set, brown sugar is sifted over the surface and broiled until golden and bubbly. When chilled, the topping gives a crunchy texture to the soft, delicate flavor of the cookies and custard.

SHORTBREAD BRULEE

- 4 egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 3 cups milk
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 package Pepperidge Farm shortbread cookies
- 1/4 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed

In a bowl, beat egg yolks and sugar until blended. Gradually blend in milk, cream and vanilla. Arrange cookies in bottom of 1-1/2 quart baking dish. Pour custard mixture over cookies. Place baking dish in shallow pan. Fill pan to depth of 1 inch with boiling water. Bake at 325 for 45 minutes. Remove from oven. Sieve sugar over surface of custard. Broil 4 inches from heat until golden and bubbling. Chill until ready to serve. Makes 6 servings.

Need a job?

Lots of job seekers don't know that there are plenty of career opportunities right now working for Uncle Sam. In fact, the federal government is having trouble filling openings for some in-demand occupations, such as accountants, computer specialists, engineers and health technicians.

In 1982, the government hired 108,087 people for civilian jobs all over the country, according to Federal Jobs Digest, a Washington-based newsletter which lists job openings with Uncle Sam, with salaries ranging from $11,490 to $57,500.

Moreover, you don't have to take a "civil service" exam for these jobs. If you have the skills, fill out and submit a government form (SF-171).

Federal Jobs Digest lists about 2,000 job openings in each issue. A subscription includes a Federal Jobs Kit with SF-171 forms and instructions on how to apply. For a subscription for six bi-weekly issues, send $29 to Federal Jobs Digest, Dept. NAP, 325 Pennsylvania Ave., S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003. As a job-seeking aid, the price is tax deductible.

Colonial Chorus Revives "Girl Crazy"

Quality surrounded the original production of the Gershwins' joyous creation, "Girl Crazy", both in conception and in execution. The Colonial Chorus of Reading revives this marvel at 8:15 p.m. on November 5, 11 and 12 at the Joshua Eaton School in Reading.

"Girl Crazy" opened in New York in 1930 as one of the most heralded productions of the year. In keeping with its promise, the show delivered an astonishing array of talent both on and off stage as well as more musical numbers which eventually claimed title of "standard" than in any previous or subsequent show ever produced.

The story written by Guy Bolton (of "Anything Goes" fame) and Jack McGowan, revolves around the visit of a night-club singer, "Frisco" Kate, to the small western town of Custer. There she meets old flame Johnnie Churchill, a former cowboy star who has plans to set up a dude ranch. Kate tries to entice Johnnie to return to Hollywood with her but is hindered in this by Johnnie's interest in the local post mistress, Molly. Custer also has its unsavory elements, Doc Parkhurst and his partner Snake Eyes, and Johnnie feels some compunction to see if his fantasy life in the movies (cleaning out the "bad" guys) could achieve some reality.

The stars of "Girl Crazy" were Ginger Rodgers and another well-known actress who will remain unidentified. Suffice it to say that this woman was so good that people like Cole Porter and Irving Berlin wrote whole shows for her. Anyone hearing her on recordings from the 30's (available at the library) will understand why. Her anonymous status results from her more recent efforts.

"Girl Crazy's" music was, of course, written by George Gershwin, probably the premier American-born composer. His brother, Ira, who passed away only this year, wrote the lyrics. George also conducted the orchestra for the show, and was privileged to number among his instrumentalists such luminaries as Glen Miller, Tommy Dorsey, and Gene Krupa.

Even without clever lines, astonishing stars, and virtuoso musicians, the show would most likely have succeeded merely upon the merits of its marvelous music. Sprinkled throughout the show are such standards as "I'm Biding My Time", "But Not For Me", "Embraceable You", "I Got Rhythm", and "Strike Up The Band".

Audiences must have left humming.

Treat yourself to an enchanting evening by calling Phyllis Evensen of Shelby Road in Reading (944-6458), or Barbara Kerrigan of Richard Circle in Woburn (933-7247). Good seats are still available. Make sure you get one of them.

TIDBITS

Chances are 50-50 that California will suffer a major earthquake within the next 10 years, reports National Wildlife magazine. To learn how to better predict an impending quake,

U.S. scientists are monitoring the behavior of caged rats, mice and cockroaches prior to some of the nearly 500,000 detectable earthquakes experienced around the globe each year.

May test soil through Extension Service

The Middlesex County Extension Service suggests that home gardeners bring a soil sample to their Extension Service Office before the ground freezes in November, to determine the pH, (lime recommendations) and fertilizer requirements. Included with the soil sample should be a list of crops to be grown and specific garden problems or deficiency symptoms that were evident in the garden this past season.

Along with the colorful foliage and harvest of apples, pumpkins and winter squash, comes the abandoned garden patch. Late September and early October bring the end of the 1983 garden harvest. Home vegetable gardeners should then start preparing the soil for next year by adding either mulch, fertilizer, lime or organic matter.

The pH testing and recommendations are free of charge and usually take about two weeks. Begin preparing for next year's garden this fall, and avoid the spring rush when results may be delayed just when it's time to start planting.

At least one cup of soil will be needed for an accurate test. With a trowel or shovel, dig from the surface down 6 inches, making a v-shaped hole, removing a thin slice from top to bottom. This should be done in each quarter section and the center of the area. Combine these samples in a clean container, and mix thoroughly. If soil is wet and soggy, place on clean wax paper to dry in the air. There is a limit of three samples per person. Samples should be brought or mailed to the Middlesex County Extension Service, 105 Everett St., Concord, Ma. 01742. The homeowners' name and address and the crops to be grown should be included.

Bats have been extremely valuable in scientific research that aids mankind, says International Wildlife magazine. Research on bats has contributed to development of navigational aids for the blind, new vaccines, artificial insemination and birth-control methods, and to studies of aging and space biology.

been frustrated by provisions in state constitutions which guarantee a citizen's right to possess and bear arms. Thirty-nine states have such provisions in their constitutions according to the NRA. This state is not an exception.

Several Massachusetts communities have been constitutionally blocked from passing gun-control ordinances. Proposals from the towns of Brookline and Lincoln, seeking permission to impose tougher handgun restrictions, were shot down recently by state lawmakers.

At the nation's capital, the NRA is pushing for new legislation to ease regulations on gun sales and licensing.

Those favoring tougher gun laws are alarmed by the increased number of small handguns in private possession across the nation.

As the rise in crime continues, more and more people are exercising their rights and buying guns. The dozen or so people with whom I talked, while gathering facts to write this article, told me crime is the main reason they want guns.

No-Go tops motoring miseries, AAA reports

Has your car battery or electrical system ever failed you on the road? If so, you are not alone.

Based on AAA statistics, the average motorist has a 50-50 chance of experiencing this type of difficulty each year.

The American Automobile Association today reported that "no-go" topped the list of automobile operating difficulties in 1982, accounting for 45 percent of all emergency road service calls handled by AAA clubs in Massachusetts.

The seven clubs operating in Massachusetts have more than 300 service facilities under contract to render emergency service to the organization's more than 530,000 members in the state. In 1982 these clubs responded to 506,141 road service calls — an increase of 5.4 percent over 1981.

While there was an increase in the number of automobile breakdowns in 1982, distribution of the types of troubles did not change appreciably, AAA reported.

The second largest category of motoring miseries, totaling 30 percent of all road service calls, involved mechanical failures serious enough that the car had to be towed.

Flat tires accounted for 10 percent of all breakdowns. 4 percent of the calls were by AAA members seeking assistance because they ran out of gas, lost their car keys, or locked themselves out of their automobiles. The remaining 6 percent of all automobile breakdowns involved miscellaneous difficulties too varied to categorize.

AAA noted that during 1982, the average age of automobiles on the road increased from 6.2 years to 7.2 years, and stated that motorists could avoid the frustration and inconvenience of breakdowns by having their cars properly maintained.

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

Don Gillis from Wilmington was born in Nova Scotia. Don is retired. I really shouldn't say that, because people from that beautiful Province in SE Canada never retire. Don told me any fisherman who makes his living "going down to the sea in ships" will tell you why they prefer boats built by these master craftsmen. Every rib, plank or knee is installed for their water tight integrity so that you can place your "trust" in the "sea worthiness" of every boat built in Nova Scotia.

My Aunt Maria of Tewksbury, on her first ocean cruise, nervously asked the captain, "Sir, do ships this size sink often?" He put his arm on her shoulder to reassure her and said, "Only once Maria, only once." Henry Gardner of Woburn is a "General" contractor who works on "Major" jobs for "Private" individuals.

Joe Altervesta, Arthas Rogers, Rube McDonough and Rusty Butterworth are members of the Elks Barber Shop Quartet. Leo the waiter is their leader who tells me they sound best when the bases are "loaded."

A Wakefield locksmith's son told my nephew Mark that his father makes security locks for banks. Mark came right back with, "What's so great about that, I saw the Woodchipper's dog last night make a 'bolt' for the door."

Terry Kirkland wanted to visit her son Kenny, so she went to a Burlington travel agency (where she lives) and asked, "Can I get to Niagara Falls by Buffalo?" "Yes," said the gentleman smilingly, "but at your age it would be safer to go by bus." Deano Murphy of North Reading was in love with the "Reingold Girl" years ago, then later was infatuated with "Mabel Black Label," now Deano has settled down and is older "Budweiser."

My friend Bill Miller of Wilmington told me of a little lad's confusing situation. The little leaguer was told by his coach to hold up at second while the kid's mother was screeching her brains out for him to take third base.

I asked Herbert Cohen a typewriter repairman for a job, he looked at me and said, "Sorry Woodchipper, you're not the 'type.'" When the great Joe Louis was asked, "In your illustrious career as a fighter who hit you the hardest?" Joe came back with a right uppercut saying, "The Internal Revenue!!!"

The barber in Reading Square took one look at Pat Carasella's "George Raft" slick down hair and asked "What will it be this time Pat, haircut or oil change?" Frank Guliano of Winchester lost almost all of his hair but he is one young man who doesn't worry, fret or care about it because he told me he believes in the "Hair-After." Dan Holland was lying down and said to his wife Mae, "I'll be ready to think about raking the leaves dear but right now, I'm thinking about painting the fence."

My new car came with an "air tight guarantee," if any of the air leaks out of the tires it will be replaced free of charge.

Father Jerimah Feeney was a personal friend of mine for many years. He was a loveable, jolly man with the ready wit of a true

Irishman. He always said that he loved an Irish collection, "All Green."

You can always tell a man who owns his own home, he is either walking into or out of a "hardware store." From time to time, I mention my Aunt Maria (Italian) and my cousins, Howie and Deano Murphy. I am one lucky guy for I have wonderful people on both sides of the family. My mother was born in that dear island across the sea and my father was born in Sardinia and there's nothing "fishy" about that.

Tom Mooney and his lovely wife Carrie decided to give their Labrador Retriever (Holly) a bath. (She was too big for the "car wash.") I watched as Holly got a bath, Tom got a shower and Carrie and the lawn got a soaking. I asked my friend Kenny Binding (who I consider one of the best auto mechanics in the area) "What can I do for a leaking auto radiator?" Kenny looked at me, smiled (and that's a rarity) then said, "Put a pan under it." I have a feeling he wants to take over this column.

My wife drives me to drink — but I manage to walk home by myself. She asked an antique dealer yesterday "What's new?" Boys and girls, it's easy to spell "banana" correctly, all you have to learn is when to "stop." I asked my cousin Mark Aloisi what he liked best about school. He answered, "Music, vacations and holidays."

I know it's cold and winter is fast approaching. I saw a chicken walking with a capon yesterday and a bumble bee with a yellow jacket today. My Aunt Maria asked me, "How can you be so 'nutty' in the first part of Woodchips and so serious in the last part?" I know there are many others who are wondering the same thing so I'll try to explain. The puns, jokes and quips are for the most part made up by me but the poems, prose and thoughts are inspired words that come to me at unpredictable hours of the day or night.

"THE LAMPLIGHTERS"

"They made the world a little brighter — the old lamplighters of long, long ago."

Most of you reading this are too young to remember how every evening at dusk a lamplighter would reach up with a long pole and turn the gas jet higher so that the soft flickering light would give everyone the feeling of security as they walked the city streets. Dreaming of the days past or cursing the darkness does not "lighten" the problem that some poor people are in, but we, like the lamplighter of yesterday, can "illuminate" the lives of those around us. We can start by lighting a candle of "love" in our hearts so that collectively we will send forth a beacon of light to help pierce the darkness that has enveloped the world. The gas lamps have diminished in number, but the lamplighters are still here — they are you and I — who by turning "up" the jets of our hearts can indeed "Make The World A Little Brighter."
